Dear Parents

I hope that you all had a wonderful Easter with your children and enjoyed quality time together. The summer term is always incredibly busy with lots happening so please check diary dates and newsletters regularly.

We have the Book Fair next week and an information session in the hall on Tuesday. It would be lovely to see as many of you there as possible.

Please also see a letter that accompanies this newsletter regarding attendance.

The staff at Bugle School and Piccolos Nursery are very much looking forward to working together with you in the term ahead.

Have a brilliant weekend.

Tim Wherry, Senior Head of School

Sport Relief 2018

Many thanks for your support for Sports Relief. We banked £125.70. Well done!

On Wednesday 18th April, we were lucky enough to have the RNLI come in to talk to us about beach safety and how to react to getting in trouble in the water, changing currents and the different coloured flags.

We thoroughly enjoyed learning about beach safety as well as facts about the RNLI. The Lifeguards showed the children the various warning flags which can be seen on the beach. They also spoke about how to keep safe near the water, showing the children some of the life saving equipment they would use during a rescue. The children thoroughly enjoyed the assembly and were given the opportunity to ask questions at the end.

The children learnt about staying safe on the beach plus being careful in the unpredictable waters.

Swim between the flags

Water craft zone

Do not swim

Do not use inflatables

The red flag represents danger; the red and yellow flag is a safe swimming area (the RNLI advise you not to take your inflatable's and save them for the swimming pool); the orange windsock is to tell you where the wind is blowing and the black and white flag is to indicate the water sports area.

They told us not to go into the water when it was foggy, what all the flags meant and how to get out of a rip current.
Kane

The lifeguards showed us what all the flags meant. They told us to ring the coast guard (999) if no lifeguards were on the beach and someone was in trouble in the water.
