Spring Term 5

Dear Parents,

We again reach the end of another term. One that has been rather strange. A Lockdown, Remote Learning and another wider reopening of schools. We could not be prouder of our children and community for coming through this difficult period with flying colours and lots of smiles. We now approach my favourite term, Summer. We hope that the warm evenings will allow us to start up with after school clubs, more Forest School and hopefully after May half term, School trips.

Staff Departure:

As some of you may be aware, Mr Taylor has not been with us for the past few months. Unfortunately for Bugle School, Mr Taylor has decided to leave the school at Easter. He has been with the school for 4 and a half years and has played an important role, especially with developing the schools computing curriculum. He worked tirelessly during the lockdown period to source new laptops and support many in setting up the ones that were borrowed. Mr Taylor has asked for me to share his thanks to all of the pupils and parents for his time at Bugle School. He leaves with our best wishes for his future endeavors.

For now, have a wonderful Easter, stay safe and enjoy lots of Chocolate!

Mr Rees

We have been blown away by some of the incredible writing that has been produced by our wonderful Year 5 pupils have a read at the incredible language used!

Freya and Kara
Inquisitively, Freya and Kara, two best friends, scuba were scuba-diving in the depths of the ocean, looking for a new species of animal called the Kraklion (or scientific name Chrysanthem Origions). The Kraklion was, a rare, only recently discovered breed of sea animal. This happened when a sea lion and a Kraken breed. Suddenly, Freya started coughing and Kara noticed why. Their oxygen tanks had broken under the high pressure of the sea. The problem was that they were two thousand feet under the surface in the middle of nowhere. One hundred miles from shore. They needed to find somewhere safe with air. Up ahead, Kara spotted a building that

Ubbe and the snow wolf
In the a snow covered forest, in Norway, Ubbe and Tom were walking. The sun was setting on the horizon as a light fall of snow came from the sky. They knew they should go back to their cabin but they wanted to see the beauty of the sky on the hill (which was quite high). So they started running up the hill when they caught up with each other, they both out of breathe. Where were they?

The sloshing of a choppy Maiko and the short. The sloshing of a choppy sea reverberated around the boat. Maiko sat frozen to the seat (it was freezing cold) with her red fishing rod in hand and Ash (Maiko's cat) in her lap, which was considerably warmer thanks to the cat. The waves were pummeling the wooden fishing boat. Rain puddled in the bottom of the boat and moonlight filtered through the dense clouds, casting shadows across the angry sea. Fishing gear rattled in the rocking boat, planks creaked and the waves slammed against the boat. Maiko shivered. How can she get back to shore?

It had a face that looked like the wind and the years had gnarled its leathery face and bent its bones. But its sharp blue eyes twinkled in the moonlight. Unnervingly, it dashed through the trees.
All of a sudden, she heard a dark shadow whisper, although scratchy and quiet. Ponds of sweat cascaded down her forehead. A deep low voice continued to whisper when she turned around there was nothing there. Ariana prolonged to pick up the wood. What she didn't see was what was coming next. Without warning, she felt a cold, long hand tap her shoulder. Her heart stopped. Her jaw dropped. Although the rain danced a thousand deaths on the trees, she somehow still heard the shadow whispering.

The nursery children have been learning about the animals and birds that live in our garden. Today we were lucky enough to find a frog! We looked closely at its long legs and learned that frogs like to live in cold, wet and dark places.

Year 2 went outside to create artwork inspired by Andy Goldsworthy this week. They really enjoyed looking for natural materials to create their pieces.
